GAME CALLED OFF.

Poolesville, Md., Oct. 9.—Owing to a death of one of Coach Lodge's relations the game between the Brainerd Hall Military Academy football team and the Gallaudet Eleven scheduled for today has been canceled.
It is hoped that these two teams will meet later on in the season as the cadets are confident of giving the Kendall Greens a tough battle for the su-premaccy.

There will be a fast game of football on Sunday between the Engineers' team from Washington Barracks and the

The team from the receiving ship at Annapolis is fast, and has been scrim-

"GERMAN WAR SURPRISE, 1914"

This is a picture of a broadsheet published in Berlin, where it is said to have been widely sold. It is a full size reproduction of the 16.4 inch sheet thrown by the great German eagle guns, which were first used so effectively in smashing the Liege forts. The legend at the top of the poster means "German War Surprise, 1914." The sheet is labeled "Our 42-C Bomb" and bears the names of Liege, Namur, Longwy, Belgium and French fortresses, with the dates of their fall and pictures of the ruins. Below in the motto, "With God for King and Fatherland." The sheet is held by a man to show the relative size of the shell.

GERMAN RETREAT WAS DUE TO STARVATION

U. S. Army Man Thinks French Will Not Let Them Threaten Paris
Another Time.

BRECKINRIDGE IS HOME AGAIN

New York, Oct. 9.—"The German retreat from Paris was due to starvation and lack of ammunition," asserted Captain Lebert Coleman, U. S. A., who went aboard on the American battleship Tennessee and returned today on the Lusitania, which brought back 1,477 refugees.

"The Germans have shot their bolt and will never again get as near to Paris as they were before. I say this because of what I saw and not from what I heard.
I was afforded an opportunity of studying the situation from the French trenches by courtesy of the French government. The French artillery is far superior to that of the Germans, though the German cavalry outclasses the French by long odds. The French are fighting for existence, and this naturally gives them spirit."

"I doubt that the Germans are fighting the fair fight they claim to be. I have in my pocket a copy of a speech made by the Kaiser to a group of army officers two years ago, in which he said the next war would be one to the death, and instructed his men to take no quarter nor give any to prisoners.
"On the afternoon of September 5 I was in the trenches of the French on the Marne. The French advanced from trench to trench by bayonet charges, although they realized they would lose 50 per cent of their men by doing it. They knew that in the end the Germans would use far more. The German infantry fire was scattering and poorly aimed."
Assistant Secretary of War Henry S.
Breckinridge, who went over on the Tennessee to distribute relief funds among the American refugees caught in the war zone, also was a passenger on the Lusitania. He refused to discuss his experiences on account of his connection with the government.

TURNER TO MEET SNAKI.

Joe Turner, middle-weight champion wrestler of the world, who has been challenged by Snaki, a Polish wrestler, from Bridgeport, Conn., has posted his forfeit money with Pat O'Connor and would like to have Snaki cover his money and sign articles for a match to take place at the Byjo Theater, Tuesday night.
Turner had a match on with Snaki, but by the time the Bridgeport lad arrived in this city the theater had closed for the season. Now Turner is willing to meet Snaki at his, Turner's weight, and wants to sign articles with the Northern. Turner requests that Snaki meet him at this office tonight to sign up for the match.

AFTER TENNIS EXPERTS.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Annapolis, Md., Oct. 9.—The management of athletics at the Naval Academy is endeavoring to get Messrs. Alexander and Hackett, the world's tennis champions, from Australia, to come to Annapolis on October 15 and give an exhibition for the benefit of midshipmen and others. This will be an off day for the navy contingent, as the football team will be in Philadelphia playing with the University of Pennsylvania. The matter is in the hands of Lieut. C. C. Gill, and it is believed efforts will be successful.

CREDIT PLANNED ABOUT NEGOTIATIONS

British Government, Backed by France and Russia, Starts Movement.

REPRESENTATIVE IS HERE

Sir George Paish Arrives in United States to Lay Project Before American Financiers.

The British government, backed by the governments of France and Russia, is interested in a movement that has been started to reestablish credit relations among the nations of the world, including Germany, despite the existence of war now devastating Europe.
Sir George Paish, editor of the London Statist, who arrived in New York on the Lusitania yesterday, has come, it is understood, as the representative of the British government and British financial interests on a mission to enlist the support of the American government and American bankers for a plan which has been evolved to carry out the purpose of this movement.

The allied governments, it is believed are willing to overlook the possible financial advantage to Germany, which may result to their common foe from participation in the movement, and France and Russia have authorized the British government to act as their representative in the negotiations with the United States financial interests looking toward the acceptance of the plan.

International Credit Bureau.

The plan which Sir George Paish has come to the United States to promote provides for the establishment of an international credit bureau, which shall be operated along the lines of a clearinghouse association.

The plan has as its basic idea a more economical use of the world's supply of gold. As it is now, within their own borders the nations use a variety of credit instruments, such as checks, drafts and bank notes. The war has shown that there is such an interdependence among the great trading nations and that their relations are so intimate that it is conceivably possible that under certain safeguards some form of credit instruments could be used in the discharge of international obligations.

One of the incidental economies of such a plan would be the cessation of the shipments of gold coin or bars back and forth across the Atlantic. Presumably, the gold would be stored under an agreement in much the same way that the reserve money of banks is now carried.

Benefit Would Be Great.

The practical development of this plan would have no precedent in the financial history of the world. It will test the ingenuity of the ablest bankers and financial experts in this country and abroad to bring such a plan into effective operation, but the men who are familiar enough with the subject to venture a hasty opinion seem to think that the resultant benefit would not only be immediately felt, despite the war, but when peace finally comes the world would find itself in a position which would permit a much freer play in the realm of international trade.

The outline of this plan, it is understood, already has been communicated to J. P. Morgan. Sir George Paish is expected to discuss it further with Mr. Morgan, and it is probable that the British economist and Mr. Morgan will come to Washington together before long for the purpose of conferring with members of the Federal Reserve Board. As yet the matter has not been taken up with the Washington officials.

Mr. Morgan was in Washington Thursday, and expected to confer with Secretary of the Interior Lane and other officials, but he postponed his engagements upon learning that the Lusitania, on which Mrs. Morgan was coming from Europe, would dock yesterday morning.

Stallings in Fight
WITH MACK ROOTER

Braves' Manager Chokes Philadelphia Fan Who Becomes Personal in Betting Argument.

Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Manager George Stallings, of the Boston Braves, choked Guy Callaghan, a Philadelphia fan, in the lobby of the Hotel Marlborough at noon, and was prevented from doing further bodily injury only through the interference of a crowd.

Callaghan, who had been around the lobby for an hour or more, offering to bet "millions of dollars" on the Athletics, finally approached Stallings, who was talking with friends.

"Bet me any amount that your team will lose," said Callaghan, breaking into the conversation.

Stallings paid no attention at first, but when Callaghan repeated his offer Stallings snarled:

"Get away from here, you big stiff!" Callaghan snapped back:

"You can bluff about beating up Connie Mack, but you can't get away with it with me."

Immediately Stallings grabbed Callaghan, a big man, by the throat with both hands. He was putting his whole strength into the choking process, and Callaghan's head bobbed from side to side.

At this point a dozen persons in the lobby rushed forward and tore Stallings away.

SPARTANS OBTAIN FIELD.

The Spartan A. C. football team has secured the use of the Washington Barracks' gridiron for the season and Manager Hermage would like to book a game on all fast teams around town, games to be played on the above-mentioned field. The Southwest clubmen practiced last evening and are in fairly good shape, considering the injuries of last Sunday.

Former Capt. Montgomery worked out and will play half back position. Manager Hermage would like to book a game for tomorrow. The game must be played at 1:30 o'clock as the strong post team will line up against the Reina Mercedes eleven of Annapolis at 3 o'clock. Manager Hermage can be reached at Cantwell and company, 517 Jenifer Building. Phone
